Do you know exactly what grant money is available to fund the training of your workforce ?? Do you know how to access these funds ?? Do you need advice on what training would best suit your organisation ?? Do you know which is the most appropriate training organisation to meet your training needs ?? Do you know the range of training that is available ?? So many questions and so hard to get clear answers.

The big question - are you interested in receiving a grant to fully fund your workforce training needs ??

Now that I have your attention – our presenter tonight will give you details of a service that you can access with the potential to have your training needs met at no cost.

COMPLET-ED is an educational consultancy that saves Australian organisations time, resources and money by managing the successful development and implementation of training programs that meet the needs of the organisation's strategic plan, culture and people.

Need to know more – be sure to join this free online presentation.
